Terry Bulger

Unaffiliated

Terry Bulger has 35+ years of experience as a banking professional, including more than 25 years specializing in risk management. Mr. Bulger spent the majority of his career with ABN AMRO Bank, where he held various positions in the U.S., Canada, and Europe, culminating in the position of Executive Vice President and North American Chief Risk Officer. Following the acquisition of ABN AMRO, Mr. Bulger joined BMO Financial Group as Executive Vice President and U.S. Chief Risk Officer for BMO Harris Bank until his retirement in 2015.

Mr. Bulger is a resident of Wheaton, Illinois, and holds a master of business administration from the University of Toronto. He also sits on the Board of Directors for Rabobank US and is a member of the Risk (Chair) and Audit Committees.