Detailed Description and Reason for Proposed Change(s):

The current maximum duration for an Energy Data Agreement is one (1) year. There is currently no option to renew an existing Energy Data Agreement.

The proposed solution is to provide the ability within SMT to renew the Energy Data Agreement prior to the initial agreement expiration, for a period no longer than 12 months at one time.

Summary of RMS Discussion:

The RMS group suggested that the phrase ‘at one time’ be added to the requirement to make it clear that the renewal was not limited to just 1 time but could be renewed as many times as the customer or the REP needed it to be renewed.

A suggestion was made to change the requirement such that a specified period of time could be chosen to correspond with a contract between the 3rd party and the customer (i.e. 1 year, 5 years etc.). However, the group decided to approve this change request as it is written with the additional phrase added (at one time) and suggested that if the additional functionality is required then a new CR would need to be presented to the AMWG group in a future meeting for consideration.
